To Whom It May Concern:

As a dedicated and effective leader and nonprofit professional with proven experience playing major roles in nonprofit management, business strategy development, marketing/public relations, and financial management... I deliver results!

Consulting has been rewarding; I've had the great opportunity to evaluate dozens of organizations and work with well over 100 leaders. As a result, I've discovered the keys to: successful operations, philanthropic relationships, growth strategies, and leadership expertise. Armed with this knowledge, I'm ready for a new challenge; a place I can call home, one with a shared vision and collaborative partnerships.

With more years behind me than ahead, I'm interested in applying my talents and expertise developed over a 30 year career, to grow a mission about which I am passionate. I'm extremely concerned about our new administration, the corruption, the influence that corporate and moneyed interests have upon our government and most importantly, I'm tired of yelling at my TV. I want to make a difference! You will find no better advocate for advancing this community. My background demonstrates much success in team management and cross-functional leadership; I possess a unique skill set that you will find difficult to match.
